I try to reflect on my activities on a monthly basis. I find it easier to keep track and to record a more meaningful record. That's why I like an online system as I can do it on the train, during a quiet moment or anywhere I like #OTalk

OTalk @OTalk_
Q1 #OTalk

Tara Watts @embracingOT
Tuning in for my first #OTalk 😊

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK
@preston_jenny Excellent strategy! #OTalk

Doh #OTalk

2 days ago

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny
It generally works for me #OTalk otherwise I forget some of the important learning

2 days ago

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK
@preston_jenny Agreed, I also try for monthly, I also like to do a little summary IE, a list weekly to help me remember at the end of the month! #OTalk

2 days ago

Elle, OTS @elleOT2019
I'm in the US. CPD is equiv to what we call CEU (continuing Ed credit). Although I'm a student, I will be checking them quarterly as I plan to apply for licensure in several states & will want to make sure that I'm meeting each states req for maintaining licensure. #OTALK

2 days ago

OTalk @OTalk_
Q2. #OTalk Do you have a strategic overview of your CPD activities? <https://t.co/4Bi6HxSH7w>

2 days ago

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK
@elleOT2019 Yes, that must make it more complicated, having different requirements! Thank goodness we only have one regulator here! #OTalk

2 days ago

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny
I like to consider my CPD activities within the 5 pillars of my role and within the types of learning as defined by the HCPC to ensure a range of learning activities and learning styles #OTalk

2 days ago

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK
@OTalk_ For my strategic overview I have a spreadsheet, so can do pretty graphs to show which areas I have covered and which I need to focus on next, or plan to focus on! #OTalk

2 days ago

Sarah Carter @ot_saz
@OTalk_ I have an overview, I'm not entirely sure it's strategic! #OTalk

2 days ago

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK
@preston_jenny Yes, variety is very important not just for HCPC, but to keep me motivated! #OTalk

2 days ago

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK
@ot_saz @OTalk_ Do you monitor the types of CPD you have engaged in? Categorise in any way? #OTalk

2 days ago

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny
Yes that is important @Helen_OTUK and also it feels less demanding as some of my most significant learning occurs during unexpected exchanges and informal situations #OTalk

2 days ago

Gilly- does- Doing @GillyGorry

2 days ago

@Helen_OTUK @OTalk_ I use my diary and calendar to log events, more detail added in notes or evidence. I'm s but if a hoarder and love my paper but I've been talking photos and using my Google drive to store almost everything #otalk it not very organized at the moment though.

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK

2 days ago

@preston_jenny Agreed, I often list conversations in my weekly review. Then expand / research further.... or when I have gone on an internet exploration, find all sorts of wonders #OTalk

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny

2 days ago

Absolutely @Helen_OTUK me too 😊 #OTalk

Sarah Carter @ot_saz

2 days ago

@Helen_OTUK @OTalk_ Hmm. Not really. Gaps in knowledge are discussed in supervision & peer supervision which steers plans for future learning & searching out appropriate opportunities. Can be very difficult to prioritise & spend time on more effective CPD when clinical workload is high. #OTalk

Lisa Johns @LisaJJohns

2 days ago

@OTalk_ #OTalk supervisions and appraisals are helpful records for CPD. In my first year qualified I was fortunate to access so much CPD I need to narrow it down now and focus on a few key areas!

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK

2 days ago

@ot_saz @OTalk_ I was thinking about types of activities, as the HCPC want to see an range of things, not all one type. Also stops me getting bored! #OTalk

Elle, OTS @elleOT2019

2 days ago

I will categorize mine based on broad themes: adults, peds, mental health, etc. #OTalk

Tara Watts @embracingOT

2 days ago

@OTalk_ Last year I was registered as a non-practicing OT but this year I'm happy to be registered as a practicing OT. This means I am definitely in CPD planning mode. With a new job, reviewing my overall CPD goals is a necessity and I'm also enjoying the new direction. #OTalk

OTalk @OTalk_

2 days ago

Q3 #OTalk How do you decide you have covered a topic or need to cover a topic? <https://t.co/rFoykKOUxD>

Suzanne Simpson @SimpsonResearch

2 days ago

@OTalk_ It's becoming something I've looked at in more detail over the last few years and from a different perspective. Previously I was focused on clinical skills but now I'm looking more a career development and skills to develop others #OTalk

Sarah Carter @ot_saz

2 days ago

@Helen_OTUK @OTalk_ I think luckily variety isn't too much of a problem as my role & opps are very varied. But it's interesting to actively consider how this could be further developed. #OTalk

@SimpsonResearch @OTalk_ Do you use the @theRCOT career development framework? #OTalk

Sophie is my name. @ciderwithsophie

2 days ago

@SimpsonResearch @OTalk_ Same. I think supporting other's cpd is my clear focus this year #OTalk feels massive though as our team is going through a lot of communal and individual development

SuzyorkOT @SuzyorkOT

2 days ago

@OTalk_ We can suggest topics, speakers and put together a timetable. This has included nurse specialists, reps, a paper on your own interest #OTalk

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny

2 days ago

I don't know if I am that strategic!! Some of my topics are determined by my PDP and mandatory training. I tend to reflect on CPD experiences and see where they fit with my needs but you've got me thinking I might need a different approach #OTalk

Suzanne Simpson @SimpsonResearch

2 days ago

@Helen_OTUK @OTalk_ @theRCOT I have looked at it and plan to book in some time to actually start using it #OTalk

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK

@preston_jenny Yes, that age old question, how do you know you don't know something? #OTalk

Sophie is my name. @ciderwithsophie

@Helen_OTUK @OTalk_ Oooh love the thoroughness of this!!! Wish I could say I'm the same but I go more on but gap reaction/tied in with my appraisal goals #OTALK

Elle, OTS @elleOT2019

By writing out specific objectives I liked to achieve. Then researching CPD/CEU events that would assist in meeting those objectives. #OTalk

@SuzanneRastrick @OTalk_ Happy new year to you too Suzanne. #OTalk

Suzanne Simpson @SimpsonResearch

@OTalk_ I think it depends on your area of work and what your interests are, it also depends on what the service or team needs too #OTalk

Tara Watts @embracingOT

2 days ago

@OTalk_ I'm in the process of working out a strategic plan so advice is welcome. At the moment, I have a notebook dedicated to just OT plans, thoughts, and blog ideas which helps. My blog will also help me keep an overview of my CPD goals and progress. #OTalk

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK

2 days ago

@preston_jenny @SimpsonResearch @theRCOT @StephanieFraser I need to make it more part of my routine, but have made a steady start! #OTalk

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny

2 days ago

Apologies @StephanieFraser and @SetG75 I got my Stephanie's confused #OTalk

Sophie is my name. @ciderwithsophie

2 days ago

@Helen_OTUK @ot_saz @OTalk_ I'm so much more organised at documenting when doing progression. The #TRAMM log was great last year for that. Would love something more creative/visual/tactile/kinnetic though #otalk

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK

2 days ago

@SimpsonResearch @OTalk_ Yes, presenting and sharing to the team is a great way of demonstrating your learning!

#OTalk

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny

2 days ago

I agree to a point @ot_saz but clinical generates lots of amazing CPD opportunities also #OTalk.

@embracingOT @OTalk_ I keep meaning to get back into blogging but get stuck on cobfidentiality/what I'm using it for! #OTalk

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK

2 days ago

@ciderwithsophie @ot_saz @OTalk_ Have discussed this with @GillyGorry a few times over the years! #OTalk

Louise @Louispenny87

2 days ago

@OTalk_ I'm in a position where a lot of what I do professionally can count as CPD - my MSc, service audit and development, training of others. So no timetabled review period but think about it ad hoc, very often #OTalk

Helen OTUK @Helen_OTUK

2 days ago

@ciderwithsophie @embracingOT @OTalk_ yes, blogging and recording your CPD is different needs. But all your CPD stuff should also maintain confidentiality. But agree not everything you do for CPD is blogable. #OTalk

Sophie is my name. @ciderwithsophie

2 days ago

@Helen_OTUK @ot_saz @OTalk_ @GillyGorry It comes back to the fact I learn better/remember/makes a greater impact when it's touchable for me! Not just written and stored on a computer #OTalk

Louise @Louispenny87

2 days ago

@OTalk_ I have a mental overview, and my annual PDR process often contains the bulk of my big CPD efforts anyway #OTalk

Suzanne Simpson @SimpsonResearch

2 days ago

@Helen_OTUK @OTalk_ When I was working on the wards we would discuss upcoming cpd opportunities such as courses, conferences, service development opportunities. People's interests and where they were currently on rotation would need to be balanced out. We always shared anything we did #OTalk

Louise @Louispenny87

2 days ago

@OTalk_ Service need, team need, individual patients need, own interests. Informal discussion with colleagues or friends in similar fields can raise areas for development #OTalk

Dr Jenny Preston MBE @preston_jenny

2 days ago

Some of my best case studies have come from clinical discussions with some deeper reflections, and possibly some reading to substantiate my thinking. The reflection and reading can be done at any time #OTalk
